

OnTrack Core Fund Note 23-09-01

Prepared by Lee Harris on 09/01/2023. Data from 8/31/2023.

SYMBOL (OTRFX/OTRGX)

The S&P 500 Index performed well during the first part of the year while the Russell 2000 Small Cap Index floundered, but small cap stocks joined large caps in moving higher in June and July. Both of these major stock indices retreated during the first two weeks of August, but began to turn back up over the past week.

Junk bonds formed a new high for the year this past week. Junk bonds serve as a good barometer for the overall stock market since economic conditions favorable for junk bonds are also favorable for stocks. Still, caution is warranted as we enter a seasonally weak period (September and October). The rate of inflation has come down, but remains high. Prices of goods have not come down, they are only increasing at a slower pace. The continued push higher in 10-Year Treasury Bond yields reflects the Federal Reserve's rate raising cycle and its fight to rein in inflation.

The Fund remains fully invested in low volatility bond and income funds. Leverage is not being utilized simply because the cost of leverage is too much due to high interest rates. High interest rates will eventually slow the economy and lead to lower rates. Bond yields will drop, which will provide opportunity in bond funds since bond prices move in the opposite direction of bond yields. We look forward to taking advantage of the opportunities that are building and moving to a less conservative posture.

Any performance quotes represent past performance. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Investment return and principal will fluctuate, so that shares, when redeemed may be worth more or less than their original cost. Objective: The OnTrack Core Fund seeks total return while keeping the Fund's volatility and downside risk below that of major equity market indices.

Strategy: To seek the Fund's objective, the Fund's subadvisor, Price Capital Management, Inc., uses a flexible investment approach that emphasizes capital preservation, but allows the portfolio managers to adopt a less conservative posture and to increase emphasis on capital appreciation when they believe the additional risk is warranted by favorable market conditions. The subadvisor invests long-or-short primarily in stocks, bonds and commodities using the subadvisor's technical and risk control strategies.

The subadvisor's technical strategy is based on a form of technical analysis known as "chart analysis" that attempts to invest in up-trending assets that are expected to produce above average risk-adjusted returns. Up-trending assets are those with generally rising prices and down-trending assets are those with generally falling prices. The subadvisor also uses this technique to take short positions in down-trending assets.

The principal risks of investing in the OnTrack Core Fund are Risks of the Subadvisor's Investment Strategy, Risks of Aggressive Investment Techniques, High Portfolio Turnover, Risk of Investing in Derivatives, Risks of Investing in ETFs, Risks of Investing in Other Investment Companies, Swap Agreement Risks, Risk of Asset-Backed Securities, Leverage Risk, Risks of Shorting Securities, and Risk of Non-Diversification. For more information on the risks of the OnTrack Core Fund, including a description of each risk, please review the prospectus carefully.

There is no guarantee that the OnTrack Core Fund will achieve its objectives. Investing in a mutual fund involves risk, including loss of principal.

The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or "star rating", is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The Morningstar Rating does not include any adjustment for sales loads. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three, five, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The weights are: 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods.
